EXTRAORDINARY FLAYING AT THE POLO GROUNDS—NEW-YORK GETS THIRD PLACE.
The 7,000 people who went to the Polo Grounds yes? terday to see the game of baseball between the New-York hard Chicago clubs will probably not soon forget the contest. The local club played as it has seldem done recently, and were with sidioulous case. Such terrific the contest. The local club played as it has seldem done recently, and won with ridiculous case. Such terrific batting is seldem seen in a professional game. The Chicago men played poorly in the field and handled the ball with little effect. They marched across the field with full-dress coats on over their uniforms. The spectators looked upon the innovation as a joke and laughed heartily. There was a rumor on Thursday that Anson and dropped dead. He probably wished last night that he had.

Neither side scored in the opening inning, but in the cond the local players made a run. Richardson made second the local players made a run. Richardson made a hit and ran to third when O'Rourke hit safely to centre second the local players have of Rourke hit safely to centre a hit and ran to third when O'Rourke hit safely to centre field. Ryan threw the ball wild to third base and Richardson scored. In the third inning Darling made a home run hit to left field and tied the score. The New-York layers took the lead again in the fourth. Connor hit safe and went to second on a passed ball. He got to third on a stort hit to Richardson, and scored on O'Rourke's out to Pettit. In the nith inning the home players drew further ahead, scoring five runs. A wild threw to first by Pfeffer went through the picket fence and allowed Welch to make the circuit of the bases. Ewing then made a home-run hit to left field. Connor made a hit, and on a hit by Slattery went to third. Connor scared on a wild throw home by Pf. fer. Richardson made a home-run drive, bringing Slattery in ahead of him. This gave the home players the lead of 7 to 1, and the crowd was happy.

The New-York players scored six more runs in the seventh inning. Only three of these runs were extract.

The visitors scored a single in the seventh, but their case was hopeless. Home-run hits by Ward and O'Rourke and a three-bagger by Conner gave New-York three more runs in the eighth inning. Three more runs were made in the minth, and the remarkable game was over. The score

ENTRIES FOR JEROME PARK TO-DAY. AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME WHICH PROMISES FIXE SPORT.

A programme of exceptional merit is served up by the American Jockey Club to-day, and Jerome Park will be crowded to the gates with the old guard and the holiday-makers. The management should s it that every facility for betting and cashing tickets is provided. All the mutual machines should be kept open and every cash window should have a competent paying teller behind it. This is the only to avoid friction.

Of the ninety-four original nominations for the Belmont Stakes only two will go to the post-Prince Royal and Sir Dixon. They will make an exciting race. Both have been coughing of late, but they are now perfectly fit. Sir Dixon has improved greatly since he won the Withers. He will be ably ridden by McLaughlin, who will have no difficulty making the exact weight, and in the opinion of this writer will win the race. Prince Royal is a game colt and a worthy foe.

Banburg's day and distance have come at last. The old giraffe should win the first race, Choctaw second. Climax, on the form shown in his last two races, should win the second race. Volunte may get the place. Richmond is dangerous. Linden, with the steadying weight of 128 pounds, ought to finish first in the fourth race, and Le Logos may run second. Give the steeplechase to Bob Miles, Harborough

MONEY NEEDED FOR SOUTHERN MISSION WORK. The Rev. J. M. Converse, of Phila-delphia, where he raised between $3,000 and $4,000 lately in Virginia and West Virginia without Presbyterian houses of worship, and Mr. Spencer proposes to erect throughout them comfortable wooden chapels equipped with libraries of moral and instructive literature. Since Northern capital has been employed in developing these parts of the country in building railroads, etc., many mining towns have sprung up along the railroad lines, having populations from 300 to 500. STENOGRAPHY AND TYPEWRITING FOR WOMEN. In September, the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen started a free school of stenography and typewriting for women exclusively, under the superinten-dency of Professor W. L. Mason. On Monday evening, the graduation of the forty-four members of the first class occurred. The exercises were held in Mechanics' Hall, No. 18 East Sixteenth-st., before a large audience, co sisting chiefly of friends of the girl graduates and members of the society. A prayer and opening address by the Rev. N. B. Thompson were followed by a series of interesting exercises, in which the scholars showed great proficiency and skill in shorthand, type-writer dictation and type-wrting from copy. Addresses of considerable meri-were made by Misses L. E. Taylor, A. A. Lewis, Eva A. were made by Misses L. E. Taylor, A. A. Lewis, Eva A. Schubert, and an original poem was read by its author, Miss A. L. Cox. Among the prominent members of the society present were William C. Smith, the president, Robert Rutter, Charles T. Galloway, Richard T. Davies, William C. Hoe, John L. Hamilton, Elija P. Leonard, John R. Voorhis, Richard A. Storrs and Charles Pratt.

HE PUT OUT HIS PLAYMATES EYE. William Greenburg, age ten, of No. 303 East Twelftht., was held in $1,000 bail at the Harlem Police Court before Justice Duffy yesterday on the charge of putting out the right eye of Ormes Siddons, age nine, of No. 194 Hope-st., Brooklyn. Siddons visited Harlem a day or two since, and while playing on the street Greenburg threw a sharp stick at him, the point entering his eye. Green burg says that he threw the stick in play.

Our Clothing Stock is so nearly right every way that we've no occasion to cut the price of anything in that department to-day, and you know we never practise the com-mon deception of advertising bargains merely as a decoy. Then come expecting to find a great variety of faultless suits marked so reasonably that we can afford to say don't hesitate to return for your money if you buy here and afterward think you can do better elsewhere.

Wednesday's sale of dollar office coats swept the counters clean of those we had reduced. We have a Forks, including sets of forty-eight further supply of very neat Coats, pieces and upward. This assortment with Vests, at $1.50. The price is for the Coat alone—the Vest goes along, because they were made together; take them or not, the price is the same.

There is a bargain for you, however, in Furnishing Goods. About 75 dozen Fancy Percale Shirts, stripes and dots, of the "Monarch" brand, have got themselves into disfavor with the head of that department by moving slowly while marked at the reasonable price of $1.50, even with two collars and a pair of cuffs "to boot." Guess these "Monarchs" will have to abdicate to-day, for whack goes a third off the price and you take them for a dollar each, collars and all.

By the way, if more collars are wanted, recollect those "2100 linen" we sell at two for a quarter. And did you ever see such Neckwear as we're selling at 50c.! Yes, you can see some of the identical patterns and shapes selling elsewhere for a dollar.
